B.DES. INTERIOR DESIGN

4 Years

The B.Des. (Interior Design) at the Jindal School of Art and Architecture is a unique four-year program in the country, aimed at those who wish to improve the inhabited spaces and enhance living experiences through experimental and informed design processes.

You learn to reimagine, design, test and refine living and dwelling spaces as well as experiences.

You are trained in knowledge systems to anticipate changes in the future built environments.

Your learning comprises, among others, a studio sequence culminating into a customised capstone design project.

You learn from a faculty trained in some of the best universities across the world such as Harvard, Cornell, Oxford, Berkeley, Heidelberg, Politecnico Di Milano and includes urbanists, anthropologists, geographers, historians, artists, lawyers, engineers who have taught in many reputable universities across the world.

- The 'major' subjects form your primary area of study, the minors strengthen your interests and skills.
- Internships are mandatory, in live projects and with clients, ensuring seamless integration into your chosen industry upon graduating.
- Master classes, workshops and invited talks from a variety of practices further inform the course of study.

INTERIOR DESIGN PATHWAY

Makes you a critical and entrepreneurial, industry-ready professional, who is globally competitive but locally embedded. The built-environment becomes your laboratory where you experiment with spatial design, building services, materials and styles, color and texture, social design, gender and space, ecology and sustainable practices.
